

Many Prominent Philadelphia Golfers Begin Play in Annual Spring Tournament at Atlantic City

SCHOOL BALL TEAMS HAVE MANY STARS

Players in Various Leagues Show Notable Ability as Selection of Stellar Nines Shows

JOE BOGART FLASHY

By PAUL PREP AS THE 1922 scholastic baseball season fast draws to a close, prevalent suggests that all-star teams, on which are placed the stellar players in each of the interscholastic, Catholic and Interacademic Leagues, be picked. A team on which are placed the star players of each of these leagues, and called the "All-Scholastic" baseball team, is also in order.

As in former years, the teams selected by the Executive Board of Leagues are chosen only after consulting coaches, players, spectators and the schoolboys themselves.

There were very few good outfielders in the interscholastic League this season. However, there were three youngsters who compare favorably with any in the United States. West Philadelphia High had the luck of having two of these gardeners on its team. In center field Joe Bogart, who last year was selected as All-Public High catcher, was incomparable and easily landed the job. To his right he had Potter, as speedy an outfielder and as hard a hitter as any scholastic coach could ever hope of having. He is placed in left. In right, Fisher of Central High, played. Fisher made the team last year. These boys are picked for the "All-Scholastic" team—the highest honor.

Gene Barrett Shines There were many infielders in the public high school circuit that could have made most any team. Only one of these, however, stood out head and shoulders over the field. He was Gene Barrett, captain of Germantown High's nine. Gene is probably the best fielder seen in scholastic circles for a decade. While he played shortstop last season, he is picked as a second baseman, for that is his regular position. He also is nominated for the "All-Scholastic" aggregation.

"St. Louis" Langren, of Germantown, and Captain Pasquerella, of West Philadelphia, were the best first basemen. Langren, however, was the most valuable player, and the position. "St. Louis" could hit and field with the best of them and is placed on both the "All-Public High" and "All-Scholastic" teams. Bobby Weston is the contention for shortstop. Bobby's great work was overshadowed by a poor team, but he came through in splendid style. "Doc" Elliott, of West Philadelphia, was his nearest rival. Carberry of Germantown is placed at third. Packer, of West Philadelphia, was the next best, but he couldn't hit the ball in pinches like the Cleveland star.

Powers the Class "Ding" Powers, of West Philadelphia, easily was the class of the league. Powers was a heavy hitter, could throw and was a splendid handler of pitchers. He is picked for the "All-Scholastic" team also. Simon, of Central, also played a great game, but the Truman and Cord backpack wasn't steady in the pinches.

Whitney, of Germantown, and Greitzer, of Central, were the outstanding pitchers. Both had everything necessary for a winning pitcher, and had no difficulty winning the positions. Austin, of West Philadelphia, was just a little short of the mark. Whitney also is picked as a pitcher on the "All-Scholastic" aggregation.

Now for the outfielders in the Catholic League. Leo Breslin, of St. Joseph's, was the outstanding star, and is picked for the left field position. J. Quinn and Rogers, of Villanova, were the winners of the center and right field positions, respectively, having very little opposition.

Sheehy Brilliant Sheehy, of Salesianum, was a brilliant first baseman. He could hit, field, throw and run with the best of them, and easily wins the job. Gillespie, a teammate, just shaded the work of Jimmy Mullin, of West Catholic, and is given the shortstop position. McHenry, of West Catholic, was the best second baseman by far, while Coffey, of Catholic, just managed to win the third-base job.

"Matty" Kane, of St. Joseph's, one of the hardest workers in scholastic ranks, was the class of the catchers. Kane worked faithfully always and could be depended on to come through in a pinch. He is the "All-Scholastic" selection also.

For pitchers the team has Griffith and Kerrigan, from Villanova and Salesianum, respectively. Griffith needs no introduction and is one of the best in scholastic ranks. Kerrigan, however, isn't so well known, but, nevertheless, had the goods, and has kept his team in the running. Griffith is an "All-Scholastic" choice.

Benders a Star In the Interacademic League, Martin, St. Luke's, Bowers, Haverford, and Hardt, Episcopal, were the best outfielders. Whitney Bell, of Penn Charter, also was good. The boys named are placed in left, right and center field, respectively.

Benders, of Haverford, and Captain Warren, of Penn Charter, easily were among the best catchers of the year. Benders had no competitor at third, and the same goes for the Quaker first, at short. There are picked for the "All-Scholastic" nine, too, Golsberry and Kraft, both of Episcopal, were by far the next best infielders in the League. Golsberry gets the second-base job, while Kraft is put on first.

Pryor was the best catcher. He was brilliant and could handle the delicate work of any schoolboys in the city. The Episcopal youth is given the backstop position.

Long, of Episcopal, was the class of pitchers. He stood every team in the League on its head, and came through with easy victories. He is given the "All-Scholastic" job also. D. Beard, of Germantown Academy, was the next best pitcher and gets the job.

Today's Scholastic Games CATHOLIC LEAGUE St. Joseph's Prep vs. Salesianum High, Wilmington. OTHER GAME Villanova Prep vs. Norristown High, Norristown.

INTERACADEMIC LEAGUE TENNIS Penn Charter vs. Episcopal Academy, Overbrook. Haverford School vs. St. Luke's School, Overbrook.

GIRLS TRACK School championships, North

Evening Public Ledger's All-Star School Nines

Table listing All-Scholastic, All-Public High, All-Catholic, and All-Interacademic teams with player names and positions.

HUNTZINGER'S HURLING KEEPS PENN IN FRONT

Bellefonte Lad's Seventh Straight Victory Is Over Columbia Penn clinched the three-game series with Columbia by mauling a pair of Morningside Heights hurlers for thirteen runs and eighteen hits. On April 15 the Red and Blue, with Huntzinger doing the hurling, defeated Columbia 6 to 3. The next game between the two is scheduled for June 7 in New York.

Walter Huntzinger broke Walter Larson's six straight record of last season yesterday, when he hurled five innings of the slaughter and got credit for the victory. It was Huntzinger's seventh straight victory of the season, one of the best pitching records made by a Red and Blue hurler in many years.

When it is considered that Penn has won all its games this season, Huntzinger's record is all the greater. Of the games played by the Red and Blue he has been in almost half. Yesterday's credit for two victories and Larson one, against Yale, and one to York. George Sullivan had a field day at bat with four hits, one a home run in the second round, with Whitball on during that time had a perfect average at bat, though he made two errors.

Mike Whitball found his setting orb in getting three successive doubles, Huntzinger, McMillen and Morrison each had a pair, with Goldblatt, Purney, Manaffey, McGraw and Rohrer with one each. Liebegott was the only regular to fail to bat, and he fanned three times out of four. Hartman was the star of the Columbia nine with four singles.

Penn's next game is with the Georgetown championship team, which has been beating them all this season. It is expected that Walter Larson against the Washingtonians, with Bill Yelousky in reserve.

Printers Stern & Co. baseball team would like to hear from first-class home batters. The pitcher has a one-punch club but has been unable to secure a game since from May 27 last. Write to Stern & Co., 149 North Sixth Street.

What May Happen In Baseball Today

Table showing National League, American League, and International League standings and game results.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Table showing yesterday's game results for National League, American League, and International League.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Table showing today's game schedule for National League, American League, and International League.

A TRIO OF FAIR GOLF EXPERTS

Miss Margaretta Dixon, Cricket Club (upper left), and Miss Helen Meehan, Cedar Brook, are shown talking over their scores at the finish of their rounds in the second annual women's golf invitation tournament at the St. Davids Golf Club yesterday. It was quite a yarn, as Miss Meehan is demonstrating with her knitting. Mrs. N. M. Hutchinson, Cricket Club (below), was tied along with Miss Meehan for the second best gross score. They had 65; Mrs. Dixon a 63.

STARS TEE OFF IN SEASHORE GOLF

Fred Knight, Risley and Host of Philadelphians Compete for Qualifying Medal Today Atlantic City, N. J., May 18.—A host of Philadelphia golfers swung impatient drivers around the first tee at the Country Club of Atlantic City here today waiting their tee-off turn in the annual spring invitation golf tournament.

The eighteen-hole qualifying round began early this morning with the promise that the field would be even larger than last year's flock of starters. Among the Quaker City entries today was Fred Knight, laughter and serene. He won this affair last year. His run-up to these sand-encrusted holes is a winning shot here.

Knight plays this course better than any other, and he is a favorite for that reason and also for the fact that he's been going great guns in the early sessions. He won at Trenton, reached the final at Lakewood, tied for the medal at 1921 and went to the semi-final there, too.

That's a swell showing for three tournaments, and Knight is expected to make an even bigger dent here. Jersey and metropolitan entries gave the field a cosmopolitan atmosphere with a three-cornered battle for the honors.

Walter Reynolds and other Philadelphia experts were expected to be late starters, while there were about a hundred of their lesser-known brethren regularly entered and set to go away early. Maurice Risley, perennial winner of the medal, is the wide favorite for the gold today. He wins it nearly every year, and the home player is going good.

Tom Wootton, H. Schackelford and several other seashore players are expected to make the grade to the first sixteen and defend the heights against the invaders. Among the entries is Alec Coles, Philadelphia Country Club. He is playing well but couldn't continue at Elmer, the village out-up at Bala, out there the other day.

"How is the course?" Coles asked one of the seashore players. "What do you mean, how's the fourth?" demanded Elmer. "What difference does it make whether the fourth is in shape or not? Since when are you so particular?" "I didn't ask about the fourth," protested Coles. "I asked about the course."

"All right," replied Elmer. "I'll throw in all the rest of the holes. What difference does it make whether the whole darn course is in shape? I don't believe you can qualify whether it's in shape or not." The bets were on and Alec Coles is here today.

J. Wood Platt, who went to the semi-final at Trenton and won the Bala medal, was expected here late this afternoon. Platt has won tournaments here as well as medals and, if he shows up, the Philadelphia star will be one of the strongest favorites.

Jersey and metropolitan entries gave the field a cosmopolitan atmosphere with a three-cornered battle for the honors.

Stars Expected Marcus Greer, Bala winner, John Beadle, Paul Jennings, Ed Clares,

U. S. Royal Golf Balls United States Rubber Company

THE wonderful demand for the new U. S. Royal comes not so much from those who are just beginning to play golf, as it does from those who are just beginning to play better golf.

U. S. Royal Golf Balls United States Rubber Company

GOLF TEAMS PLAY OFF FOR LAURELS

Huntingdon Valley Meets Country for Championship—Cedarbrook vs. H.V.C.C. 2d Today MRS. BARLOW WINS AGAIN

THE play-off for the women's golf team championship of Philadelphia will be staged by teams representing the Country Club and Huntingdon Valley at Whitmarsh this afternoon.

After a close race most of the way these two teams tied for the major championship in the Philadelphia Cup division with four matches won and one lost.

Huntingdon Valley's sole defeat was at the hands of the Country Club, which surprised on Tuesday by coming through, four matches to three, on its own course. Miss Maria De Kosenko's great victory over Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Huntingdon Valley, after being three down and six to play, was partly responsible that day.

Miss De Kosenko has scored close to 90 in all her starts this year and she looms as one of the match play favorites in the Philadelphia individual championship next week.

The two teams are expected to line up about as they did Tuesday in their match this afternoon.

The order of play then follows: Mrs. C. F. Fox, Huntingdon Valley, vs. Mrs. G. S. Patterson, Country Club; Mrs. G. H. Stetson, Huntingdon Valley, vs. Mrs. M. E. G. Hess, Country Club; Mrs. H. Peralp, Huntingdon Valley, vs. Mrs. E. T. Weisberbaum, Huntingdon Valley; Mrs. T. H. Vesterheim, Country Club, vs. Mrs. W. J. Jones, Huntingdon Valley; Mrs. J. D. Elliot, Country Club, vs. Mrs. W. Weaver, Huntingdon Valley; Mrs. J. Akerover, Country Club.

Philmont plays off with Whitmarsh for the championship in the Suburban League, and the winner will play Riverton, last team in the first division, for a chance to get in the first league tomorrow.

Cedarbrook and Huntingdon Valley second team will play off a tie in the Suburban League, and the winner will play Riverton for the championship of the Wallingford division. The winner meets Bala at Philmont tomorrow. Gulp Mills, winner of the new association division, will play Linwood tomorrow also, with a chance to enter the higher league.

By a Stroke Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Merion, came through a large field to victory in the second annual invitation golf tournament at St. Davids as expected, but her margin of victory was one little putt in the good.

Mrs. Barlow, who won the Geist Cup last week, had a 92, and three players were right behind her with 93's, tied for the second gross prize, for which they will have to play off.

Mrs. Barlow won the honor of first having her name engraved on the new "Nancy Wilbur" Cup, a handsome, tall vase effect, which was put into competition for the first time this week, and which must be won twice for permanent possession.

Miss Helen Meehan, the young star of the Cedarbrook Club, and Mrs. Jerry Hirst, Whitmarsh, played particularly well to get their 93's, though both missed many chances. Miss Meehan took six putts on the first two greens. Mrs. N. M. Hutchinson, formerly May Bell, was the third player to have a 93. There were twenty-three scores under 100, despite the high wind which blew over the high spots and an occasional drizzle. The fair players also had considerable trouble with the greens.

Some Birds Mrs. Thomas Cochran, Huntingdon Valley, and Mrs. J. M. Ruegenberg, Cedarbrook, tied for the best net score with their 81's. The former owed part of it to a fine 4 on No. 8. She was about the only one to capture a 4 there, and Mrs. S. Ely Woodbury, also came in for applause with a 2 on the second. She got her bird on this short hole in a mashie shot from off the green which trickled right plumb into the cup.

Mrs. Barlow was expected to come through by a wider margin, as she scored an 85 at St. Davids on Monday and has played regularly under 90 since.

William H. Wanamaker STORE NEWS 1217-19 Chestnut St.

Our Tailoring Shop Attracting City-Wide Attention $45 and $55 THESE two prices bring you an opportunity to take your choice between finest American worsteds, homespuns, tweeds and summer woolsens, built to measurement, at the first figure—$45.

Or, to make a selection from wonderfully fine imported English, Irish and Scotch suitings, including genuine British worsteds, genuine Irish homespuns and genuine Scotch tweeds, built to measurement—$55. We will send you samples from any group you specify.

A Word About Sun Proof Serges In Big Demand, $35 New Spring Suits of Imported Pathfinder Fabrics $38.50 They are made of English cloths which we purchased in such quantity, built to our special order, that we can sell them at $38.50 instead of $45 and $50. And they are selling very rapidly.

Two pairs of trousers with each suit. As you know, our store is the only store in the country where this famous exclusive make of fine serge suits can be purchased. 65,000 men have worn them.

They are golf suits or business suits as you require. Made in four pieces, knickerbocker trousers, long trousers, vest and Norfolk coat. The homespun of which they are made come direct to us from Ireland and they're handsome.

Advertisement for Admiral Perfecto Populares cigars, featuring three cigars and the text: Admiral Perfecto Populares, 15c, 2 for 25c, 10c, Henrietta, Each of these cigars has its own individuality and is full value at its price. Try all three and then make your permanent selection. OTTO EISENLOHR & BROS., INC., Philadelphia: ESTABLISHED 1850

Advertisement for U.S. Royal Golf Balls, featuring an image of a golf ball and the text: U.S. Royal Golf Balls United States Rubber Company